While capitulation of Italy exposed central Europe to heavy bomber attack, the Alpine district presented a formidable obstacle to an Allied ground advance into southern Germany.

Hundreds of thousands of her troops killed or captured in North Africa; her elaborate railroad system torn to shreds; her fair cities smouldering in ruin, and lacking the natural resources to carry on war, Italy sought the easiest way out of the conflict.

While mortality and sickness rates are slightly higher, the statement comments that the rise is not more man could be anticipated, considering wartime strain.

Two Schools Offer Prescription for Post-War Depression in Pamphlet Entitled 'The Midcontinent and the Peace."

> By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator,

Washington, D. C.

Out of the part of the world farthest from the fighting, literally and figuratively, has come an interesting international prescription for the cure of the world's post-war headache-the spell of depression that we have to be ready for.

The formula is summarized in a 43-page pamphlet that I wish everyone could read. The title is "The Midcontinent and the Peace." The cover is an earthy brown embellished with alternating rows of golden grain sheaves, fat porkers and asked their respective state univer-Hurtling against a steel girder of down-to-brass-tacks example of the boundary line.

The gist of the report is this: I. Western Europe must arrange greatly to increase its imports of wheat, lard and pork after the war.

II. Canada and the United States must reorganize their automobileproducing industries so that a maximum employment in Canadian factories can be maintained; cost of autos be reduced to Canadian buyers and American car output in-

III. Agriculture in the prairie provinces of Canada and the central northwest United States must continue along the lines of agricultural specialization developed out of necessity during the war.

The Connection

Now, at first glance, the connection between these steps may not peace without the loss of U. S. sov- Great Britain must march together ried out. Again, it shows filled with crushed ice which in ereignty constitutes the basis are consecrated to the rights and advisory committies improvident act on the part of our arranged in such a manner that it fact that domestic problems are frecerning their results, but a striking

In the first place, the report shows how domestic economic policies (the ones I briefly summarized in the three points above) are, in fact, international policies. It demonstrates with figures and explanation GOP committee ing between people than "taking States" must have "resoundingly important effects on the external world.'

Examples offered to prove this include the figures which show how the rise and fall of demand in Canada and the United States affected other parts of the world up to and after the depression hit us in 1929.

In less than three decades, imports in the United States of ten different commodities increased from 300 to 1,700 million dollars worth. Take silk: the yearly average importation of silk bought by the United States from 1901-05 amounted to 45 million dollars. In 1929, it had jumped to 432 million dollars. But when the depression struck, it fell to 114 million dollars in 1932.

The total imports of the ten commodities dropped from 1,718 million to 534 million dollars-and you can imagine what happened in the producing countries when these markets disappeared.

shared, the MUTUAL interests of the two countries greatly IN-CREASED and their competitive interests declined.

Industry Predominant

The report shows how agriculture has ceased to be our greatest source of wealth, how industry has become pre-eminent and to maintain our agriculture, a healthy contained. The old statement is quoted: "Tell me the amount of factory payrolls and I will tell you the price of meat and butter."

The plans for our own agriculture | to another.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, | are fairly simple-maintenance of the same type of specialization now going on. The plan for Europe is more complicated but since the question of whether the people of western Europe eat at all for the next few years, depends largely on what Russia, the United States and the other grain producing countries do, these countries may be able to get western European countries to do what we want.

According to the Midcontinent planners, an arrangement should be made whereby western Europe for period-perhaps 15 years-would absorb our surplus wheat, pork, lard and other farm products. Production of these products would be stopped in western Europe and resources saved would be put to efficient use. The producing countries would assist in reorganizing European agriculture to this changeover. The producing countries would also agree to reduce certain tariffs so that the Europeans can pay for the agricultural products they absorb with goods they can make. (Of course, there is the tough spot.)

As for changeovers in agriculture, it is pointed out that they are not new. Minnesota was once the greatest wheat producing state in the country. That is no longer true, "Mixed farming" has greatly increased. Diversified farming rose in Denmark and improved the standard of her people-these changes come about automatically because the new type introduced pays better. Similar changes, it is implied, could be brought about by ukase, too,

Unfortunately, space does not permit a detailed review of this report but quite as important as its actual content are the forces which initiated it-in the first place, it brings to our consciousness the mutual interests of this country and our northern such a violently expanding garaneighbor which are plain to any it is now used as a propelling to American familiar with Canada and in a "dry-ice gun," says Colleher people but which many in both A cylinder under the barrel wise advantageous to the whole world. Diary of a Broadcaster

Let me tell you of another crazy rumor story that I heard today. It is so old that it has whiskers but people up and down this land are listening and believing it,

A reliable, otherwise hardheaded man told me that an acquaintance of his wife had a friend or relative who had a letter from her boy, a prisoner in Japan. The boy said that he was being well treated and then made a reference to his stamp collection.

He had none, so the remark got the people to thinking-they repeated it "then the FBI or somebody" took the letter, steamed off the stamp, and under it was written-Well, before the man finished telling it, I said: "I know what was under it-They've cut my tongue How did I guess? Well, I heard that story a dozen times in the last World war.

But to make sure, I made a few inquiries, simply to check the procedure. In the first place, prisoners of war don't use stamps. They can't write direct to their next of kin. The messages all are relayed through the International Red Cross anyhow.

FARMING IS 'KNOW-HOW,' NOT MERE OWNERSHIP

THE VALUE OF ACRES as farm land is determined by the price at which the products of those acres can be sold, not for a year but over a considerable period of years. In 1917-18, with food products selling at extreme high prices, farm land prices-not values-doubled and trebled. Farmers mortgaged their home acres to buy more acres with the expectation of continued profits resulting from a continuance of high prices. Insurance companies and banks loaned money on the basis of these high land prices. They bid ravenously for the privilege of making such leans.

By 1921, with the war over and the edge taken off the food demand in Europe, the high prices for food products disappeared, but the unpaid mortgage was still hanging over the head of the farmer. At normal prices for his crops he could peither reduce the principal nor pay the interest. The land he had bought was not worth in peacetime what he had paid for it in wartime,

The farmer had gambled and lost. He had expected high food prices to centinue, but could not control the law of supply and demand. The banks and insurance companies took over thousands of farms on which they could not realize the value of the money loaned.

Again there is a world-wide demand on America for food. Again there is an abnormal price for food products, though not nearly so high as the price of 1917-18. Again the price of farm land is shooting upward, but this time it is not the experienced farmer who is buying. Now it is the man from the city who is attempting to hedge on the threatened inflation. When it is all over, when the last shot has been fired, when the starving people of a to carry these days than ever before, food prices are again back to normal, then it is probable the experienced farmer can add to his home acres at a bargain price. The city farmer, sadder and wiser, will be moving back to the city. He will have discovered that successful farming must have back of it a "Know how." . . .

Put Nutrition in That Lunch Box (See Recipes Below)

Let's Pack a Lunch

Do you realize as your children once again begin the trek back to school with their lunch boxes that those mid-day meals should carry a third of the day's calories in them? Lunches that are a bite-and-run excuse for a meal will not give chil-and it behooves every homemaker to be on her toes to put in the box the very best lunch she can pack.

Packing the lunch need not take undue time or effort. Assemble the equipment needed for packing a lunch at one convenient spot, and then you can get right to work with it as soon as you've put breakfast on the table. Keep staples on hand to simplify the lunch-making problem. This should include such things as crackers and cookies, cheese, milk, eggs, peanut butter, beans, salmon, sardines, dried fruits, nuts, jelly, marmalade, pickles and

Washington, D. C. BOMBING OF ROME

Pope Plus XII was completely ooperative with the Allies the first time Rome was bombed, but not the second time. Inside fact is that he called in Harold Tittman, American charge d'affaires to the Vatican, and protested in the strongest language. He gave Tittman a scorching scolding.

Reason for the Pope's ire was that on August 11, Tittman had informed him that Rome could be recognized as an open city by the unilateral declaration of Italy.

As a result, the Pope understood that Rome was an open city and apparently so informed Marshal Badoglio. The Pope was acting as intermediary for the Italian Government. Both he and Badoglio, therefore, apparently rested on Tittman's assurances and considered Rome an open city.

That was why the Pope was so indignant when, despite his earlier conversation with Tittman, Rome was bombed again.

Whether the State Department failed to communicate Tittman's message to General Eisenhower in order to head off the second bombing was something on which State Department officials declined to comment.

However, one explanation probably was that a city cannot be declared "open" by a unilateral declaration. Neutral observers must enter the city and definitely ascertain that troops, munitions works, airfields, and government offices have been removed.

This had not been done following Tittman's first conversation with the Pope, and that was why General Eisenhower bombed Rome again.

PRIORITY OF DANGER

Behind the closed doors of the OCD in Washington, plans for the civilian defense of the country are being revised. The new plans take into account the decreasing likelihood of attack, and the growing public indifference to black-outs and bomb shelters.

War chiefs insist the danger of attack has not passed, but they admit there is no point in whipping up the public to a frenzy of fear, especially in the safer areas.

They have now divided the country roughly into three zones, with the following "priority of danger"—
1. Pacific Coast, 2. Atlantic Coast, 3. Interior areas.

The coastal areas are 200 miles deep, so that everything 200 miles inland is "interior" and relatively safe. The Pacific coast is regarded as more dangerous than the Atlantic, because the Japs are both uncontrolled and unpredictable,

When the revision is finally ironed out, public announcements will be made, and there will be a general relaxation of defense activities. But OCD will insist that the minimum measures of protection shall be ready for the siren.

Decision to relax the program was difficult for OCD, since it meant a scaling down of personnel, and a loss of jobs throughout the organization.

AIR FORCE DUPLICATION

Advocates of a single air force point to the manpower saving that might be accomplished, right under the noses of the Chiefs of Staff, if army air forces and naval aviation were combined.

On the edge of Washington, separated only by the Potomac river, are the army's Bowling Field and the navy's air base at Anacostia. Both fields are equipped with many of the same facilities, and those facilities are manned by forces which duplicate each other.

Each field has its own radio tower and radio staff; each has its separate communication staff, its own meteorological bureau and staff, its own medical staff, its own supply depot-and a dozen other services required at a big air field.

A single air force, combining both army and navy, would do away with this duplication both of equipment and personnel.

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys nometimes lag in their work—denot act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backnebs, persistent bendarbe, attacks of distinces, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and attength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or teo frequent urination.

THE SIN OF MOSES AND AARON

LESSON TEXT-Numbers 20:1-13, IT, 28. GOLDEN TEXT-Be ye angry, and sin

Sin is a serious matter, and even though men in our day may not call it by its real name, it is as much here as it was in the days of Moses -and it is just as awfully sinful as ever.

Sin is universal; it appears not only among the people, but also among their leaders. God's dealing with it is on the basis of "greater privilege, greater responsibility." No leader, especially in God's cause, can expect special consideration of his weakness. He must meet God and answer for his sin.

I. The Unbelief of the People (vv. 1-5).

It is well to bear in mind that the people of Israel who were now at Kadesh-Barnea, on the borderland of Canaan, had been here once before-40 years before. Here they had rebelled against God in unbelief because of the report of the spies concerning the land. Because of their unwillingness to take God at His word, they had been sent to wander 40 years in the wilderness until the complainers had died. Read that graphic and instructive story in Numbers 13 and 14.

Now they were back at Kadeshand a new generation shows that the spirit of unbelief and distrust has a hold on humanity, and makes son like father.

They had run short of water. The spring which had served their fathers on the previous visit to Kadesh had run dry.

One would have supposed that all the mighty dealings of God in their deliverances over and over again, would have indicated the need of faith; but they had only a wailing criticism of God and His leaders.

II. The Answer-God's Power (vv. 6-8).

Moses and Aaron, now old men but still God's chosen leaders, took their sorrow to Him (v. 6). It was the right place to go, for power belongeth unto the Lord (Ps. 62:11).

Instead of punishing the people for their unbelief, God calls upon His servant Moses to show them that He (God) is able. At a word from Moses, the rock would bring forth water before their eyes.

Is not that the perfect answer to all man's questioning and lack of faith-the revelation of the omnipotence of God? But God's purpose is defeated (at least in a measure) by the III. Unbelief of the Leaders (vv.

9-11). Instead of taking their place as the servants and subordinates of God, Moses and Aaron claimed that they would provide water (v. 10). Instead of showing God's power by speaking to the rock, and His mercy in providing for the people, they uttered a rebuke; and then, by smiting the rock, took to themselves the honor that really belonged to God.

When called upon to act for God. they acted for themselves, and in their own name. They used for their own glory the power delegated to them by God. Let us beware that we do not fall into the same error. Let us also note that if the punishment seems severe, we should recall that they had broken a type of Christ, Christ was the Rock. He was to be smitten at Calvary, that the water of life might flow forth. But He died once for sin (I Cor. 10:4) and is not to be smitten again. We need now only speak to Him in faith and receive life.

In Exodus 17:5, 6, Moses smote the rock, presenting the first half of the type foreshadowing the work of Christ; now he was to speak to it, fulfilling the type, and in unbelief he destroyed God's picture or type of redemption. It was a grievous sin.

IV. The Answer-Judgment (vv. 12, 13, 27, 28).

Moses and Aaron were not to be permitted to enter the promised land, because of their failure. No doubt it was true that their departure to be with the Lord was in a sense "far better" for them; and yet it cannot be denied that there was disappointment in not seeing the conclusion of their long and arduous labors.

The lesson is clear. We may serve God long and faithfully, but that is not any excuse for "letting down" in our closing years. We dare not presume, as though our intimate touch with God and place of leadership gave us an "inside track," a right to take it easy, spiritually or morally.

Sin is always sin; and it is especially grievous in one who has the privilege of high position and of power with God.

God buried His workmen; but His work went on. For Aaron there was his son Eleazar (v. 28). For Moses there was a Joshua, "full of the spirit of wisdom" (Deut, 34:9). It is always so. None of us is indispen-

SUN AND HEAT STROKES

Two emergencies that come with hot weather are sunstroke and heatstroke. Whether the individual is working or at rest the sun may cause dizziness, headache, dryness of the skin, and difficulty in breathing. Suddenly the patient falls, convulsions occur, and sometimes is apparently comparalyzed. pletely There is flushing of the face, delirium, nausea, vomiting, a conted tongue, and high temperatureskin hot and red.

This condition is called sunstroke perfectly useless but cheering bits or thermic fever. The patient is placed in a shady spot and ice or cold water is applied continuously to the surface of the whole body. Ice pack if available is placed behind ears and about the head.

However, what is called heat exhaustion is now more often seen than sunstroke. Heat exhaustion usually occurs where the individual is working hard amid great heat in a place where the ventilation is poor. There is a feeling of great weakness and the first thing noticed is that there is no perspiration on the skin which is very hot and dry, temperature below normal and pulse

In heatstroke the patient should be disrobed to the underwear and placed on his back in some cool shady place. Ice bags are applied to the head and both armpits. The use of hand fans (or towels) to stir up air currents is advisable. When the patient recovers consciousness he should be given increasing quantities of cold water by mouth and a quarter teaspoon of table salt with each glass of water.

In what is called heat exhaustion, which is a mild form of heatstroke, the body temperature instead of being high, as in heatstroke, may be below normal. Skin is pale and clammy and moist, breathing rapid and shallow. Treatment consists in placing patient in a cool place and giving him cool drinks of fruit juices and a quarter teaspoonful (15 grains) of table salt every three

Getting the patient to a cool spot and giving cool drinks and table salt (to keep water in the body tissues) is the main thought in the treatment of heat stroke and heat exhaustion. It is the great loss of water and salt from the body tissues that brings on the symptoms.

Allergies Grouped Into Three Classes

Hay fever is a form of allergybeing sensitive to certain sub-

A simple definition of allergy is given by Dr. H. K. Detweiler, Toronto, in the Bulletin of the Academy of Medicine, Toronto. "Allergy is a condition of some individuals in which certain tissues react in an altered manner in the presence of specific substances (usually protein in nature) which, to the ordinary individual, are without effect."

Dr. Detweiler states that there are three main or major types of allergy or over-sensitiveness. These are (1) atopic allergy, (2) bacterial allergy, (3) contact allergy. Examples of atopic allergy are hay fever, pollen asthma, or asthma due to sensitiveness to protein of foods, furs, feathers, dander of animals, or various substances such as house dust, orris root, linseed.

Examples of bacterial allergy are tuberculin-sensitive individuals and patients suffering from asthma caused by sinusitis, bronchitis, and other infections.

Examples of contact allergy are skin inflammations due to contact with plants, chemicals and metals.

What about heredity as a cause of allergy? The atopic type if not really hereditary shows a definite tendency to follow the laws of heredity; bacterial allergy has not been definitely established as being of a hereditary nature; contact allergy is not hereditary.

What about treatment? Is the injection of pollen vaccine effective in preventing hay fever? Does avoiding using or small doses of the foods causing allergy prevent asthma or other allergic symptoms? Can asthmatic attacks be prevented by "desonsitizing" these individuals with extracts of house dust, animal and other substances?

The great majority of these patients can obtain relief if they are patient enough to submit to the various tests necessary

Take a tip from Aunt Ellie . . . you don't have so much house cleaning to do when your electric appliances are in shape to do the job. Fix minor breakdowns your self. Wheat in Loan

Because farmers are able to obtain more for their wheat on the market than the $1.28 a bushel advanced on loans by the Commodity Credit corporation, pledges on the 1943 crop approximate half of the total prevailing at this time last year. Then, 94,418,000 bushels were being held by the U.S.

UNEXPENDED WAR FUNDS MUST BE WATCHED

THAT CONGRESS has fully provided funds for war purposes demonstrated by the fact that of the money appropriated for expenditure up to July 1 of this year, 203 billion dollars had not been used but was still subject to the call of the administrative departments. It means the departments had in their hands a sum equivalent to an average of $1,561 for each man, woman and child in the nation. That is pearly twice the amount that has poses during the years of 1941, '42 1, 1942, the expenditures amounted to $26,011,065,089, and for the last year, ending July 1, 1943, the total was $70,219,400,244.

war purposes for the current fiscal Senator Byrd is asking the "why" of these tremendous unexpended balances. He sees in them a danger to American institutions in placing so much, evidently unneeded money, in the hands of government departments. Congress could, and possibly may, recall such balances as have not been expended, or for which contracts have not been let. Congress has voted money like the proverbial drunken sailor. If it is not needed it would be well to relieve the taxpayers of as much of pi, down 120,000, and Tennessee, the war burden as is possible of saving. That $1,561 is quite a sum for each one of us to meet. That, plus the individual portion of the appropriations for this year, means an average of better than $2,500 for each man, woman and child, or a mortgage for each family of five of $12,500.

While press and public were crying for a tripartite meeting of the representatives of Russia, Britain and the United States, the arrangements for a whole series of meetings were already being made. It was not until almost the end of the Roosevelt-Churchill visit that we learned, first, that the tripartite meetings "on the foreign minister level" had been definitely agreed upon and, second, (which no one then guessed) that a commission was to be formed of representatives of all three powers to discuss the the capitalist nations were grown situation arising out of the Allied victories in the Mediterranean in which Russia is so deeply concerned but which, militarily speaking, she we were unable to indicate its source.

Aviator's Toothache

A dental cavity that never bothers an airman on the ground will usually give him a toothache at altitudes from 10,000 to 30,000 feet, owing to the expansion of body gas at low atmospheric pressure, says Collier's. In several cases, the carious condition producing the pain was in such an early stage that it was not detectable in an X-ray photograph.

In the Navy a floor is a "deck," doors are "bulkheads," downstairs is "below," and a cigarette is a "Camel." At least, Camel is the favorite cigarette among Navy men, as it is among men in the Army, Marines, and Coast Guard. (Based on actual sales records from service men's stores.) And a carton of Camels is a favorite gift. Though there are now Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are .- Adv.

To make a convenient platform for scrub pails, or other cleaning equipment that has to be moved from room to room, attach rollers to a piece of board 15 inches square. Saves lifting, and makes cleaning easier.

Woodwork which has been attacked by mildew should be thoroughly dried out. Floors and woodwork may then be wiped with a damp cloth dipped in water containing a small amount of kerosene or in a 5 to 10 per cent solution of borax and water.

If mature timber is merely killed it can be harvested without too serious loss, but what about the reproduction, or timber too small for the saw? We must think and act now because the future must be cared for as well as present needs.

Pulpwood is badly needed as well as all kinds of timber. Put your timber to the best possible use. If good for pulp timber put it into pulpwood. If it can go into longer lengths it may be used for ship timbers, boards or planks, or the 1,000-and-1 other urgent needs of a nation at war. Despite all this, think of the future and improve your timber stand and do not seriously deplete it by illogical cutting. Remember that a too small log will not pay its way even despite high prices. In a few years, with good care and management, the tree that is now too small to cut will provide more lumber and demand a higher price. Your good judgment in cutting timber now to improve your stand of timber rather than make a source of little or no income and a drain on the pocketbook in paying taxes, by poor judgment in cutting. If you have timber for sale find out its ultimate and best use and then nes that it is so used.

See Here, Private Hargrove! by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marien Hargrove, furmer newspaper feature editor has been inducted into the army and has spent some time in training at Fort Brace. In his advice to prospective selectees, Private Hargrove had advocated a pre-induction period of "painting the town red." Once in the army he thinks "an open mind" is the best policy for the "first three weeks are the hardest." Some of the more fundamental phases of army life have gone over Private Hargrove's head and his conduct has landed him often en KP duty. He has been classified as a cook. Between his KP duty and his regular cook assignment he has spent considerable time in the kitchen.

CHAPTER VII

One of the nicest things about working in the kitchen in Battery C of the 13th Battalion has been the knowledge that its number-one chow hound, Buster Charnley, would drop around after supper and the conversational fat. It's like a letter from home to listen to Buster's slow and mournful drawl, and his refreshingly dry humor is a pick-me-up at the end of a long, hot afternoon.

Buster came prancing up the chow line, the other evening with a grin that started at the back of his head and enveloped his face from the nose down.

"What's eating you, Walter," I asked him, "-besides that egg-sucking grin?"

'Leaving here, boy!" he sang. "You won't see me around for three months. And when you see me, son, you'll see stripes on my sleeves and a look of prosperity on my clean-cut Tarheel face!"

The man behind him wanted to get to the mashed potatoes, so Buster had to move on down the line, I got the whole story from one of the kaypees while I waited for him to make his evening call.

Of the 200-odd men in Battery C, two men had been selected for three months' training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. At the end of their three months, they will come back as gunpery instructors, with a non-commissioned officer's rating and a specialist's extra pay on top of that. Mrs. Walter Charnley's little boy Buster was one of the two men selected.

One of the sergeants near here came back from a recent leave with one of the most glorious shiners that ever darkened the human eye.

"Run into a door?" I asked him. "Gave a guy the wrong answer," he replied simply, "or rather, the answer he didn't want."

I looked at his face; his teeth were all there and his jaw was still in one piece. I looked at his hands; the knuckles showed the marks of

"I was at a party," he went on,

"Leaving here, boy," he sang; "You won't see me around for three months. Then I'll be wearing stripes on my sleeves."

"Excellent," I tell him; 'excellent!" He looks me up and down sort of broke in, "or handshaking-as the I read the magazine stories about pus?" how poor it is. Well, I tell him, 'I spend all my time with the boys and have to admit it was soldiering. I believe what I see more than what | That's the way it is. You sweat your

I buttoned the handsome winter blouse and he stepped back to inspect it with the eye of an artist. "Every time my wife gets mad at me, she has her picture taken to send to me. The picture I got today showed she's going to eat my heart out unmercifully when I can't put off my furlough any longer and I have to go home. And with domestic difficulties on my hands, I have to fit your winter uniforms." He yanked at my coattail, straightened the collar and scratched his

"Git off the platform and into this overcoat," he sighed. He held the coat while I got into it and he slapped my hand for fidgeting again. "Sometimes I wonder why I go to so much trouble keeping you boys dressed right. Here I spend the whole afternoon wiping sweat out of my eyebrows, just to see that your clothes fit you and you won't look like a bunch of bums-which you

"Do you know what some ungrateful kitchen termite said the other day? He started putting it around that the Army could double itself in half an hour by filling up the extra space in its trousers. Do your trousers fit you bum?" He straightened the pleats in the back of the overcoat and gave the tail an unnecessarily vicious yank.

"Did I say they didn't?" groaned, raising my arms despairingly. "Just because somebody else says you stretch the coat in the back so the man will think it fits right in the front, you have to go picking on me!"

"Me pick on you?" he screamed. "It's a wonder my nerves ain't completely shot! Do I come around and put signs on the door saying, 'Walk Up One Flight and Save Five Dollars'? Do I throw gunny sacks on your bed and ask you to take up the cuffs two inches?

"With my thankless job, it's a wonder I haven't collapsed before this. I wish I was a permanent kitchen police instead of a supply sergeant. Hargrove - 37 long!

"This battery is my baby," Corporal Henry Ussery said, loosening his belt for a real bull session. I've watched it grow from thutty-one when this fellow who lives next men to what it is now. It was hard when you look around and see what you've done."

> The assembly sighed en masse and decided to loosen its belts. Ussery was wound up again.

> "When I got here, there wasn't anybody here but the instructors. We spent four weeks eating dust and running rabbits. There I was-I'd spent thutteen months learning the old drill and tactics to where I reckon I had it down better than any man in the whole Army. Then they started this 'minute Army,' with a bunch of green ignorant Yankees-and I had to teach them what they had to know!"

The bull session nodded wisely and Corporal Ussery went on. "Now, this young Corporal Joe Gantt, for instance. Now, this Corporal Gantt, when he first came in, was one of the greenest rookies in the bunch. But he snapped out of it and made corporal in four months.

"Was that soldiering," a voice pitying-like and wants to know don't Latins used to say, mittus flop-

"Much as I can't stand Gantt, I'll head off hammering the drills and "He goes on from there making the calisthenics and the military of arms into them. They're all Point cadets. They're extra good cooks and better soldiers."

"Isn't a good soldier a specialist at griping and growling?" somebody asked him.

"Griping is an art, just like goldbricking is an art. Before you leave here, you learn that you don't enjoy | coat over him. griping a bit when you spread your energy all over everywhere, griping about everything. You learn to choose one thing and specialize in griping about that.

"If you want to be a specialist at griping, you have to get on your toes. You get to where your clothes yards down the slope. you pretend that you don't get

"Now, you take Private Hargrove for instance. First came here, he griped about me telling him he was carrying his rifle wrong. Now he gripes when I tell him he's carrying it right. He might have something there. He still carries it like it was a 75-millimeter gun. He's getting so shiftless, even at griping, that he can't find anything to beef about except not getting any mail. I'm going to write all his creditors, so he won't even be able to gripe about the mail."

Somewhere on the wild coast of South Carolina, the battalion in which I cook is being treated to a weekend to combine business with pleasure. You'd expect to be hauled out of one of them, beaten to death, at the end of a 130-mile trip. They give a tolerably bumpy ride, just tolerably.

When we started pitching camp, about a quarter of a mile back from the beach, we found the place already inhabited - by cannibals. These creatures, which masquerade as harmless flies and even camouflaged by the harmless sounding name of sand flies, must have vampire blood back in the line some-

Good Breads

"I want to know how to make good bread," is a desire expressed often by readers who write in and tell me their problems. Some feel making bread is a matter of good luck, while others are certain that if they just had a good recipe, they could make good bread. Bread, good bread, is one of the easiest of all baked goods to make. The yeast bread takes longer for the process to be completed, but there is nothing hard about any of the steps. Bear in mind these essentials when baking bread with yeast: 1. Liquids used may be water, milk, diluted evaporated milk, potato water or a mixture of any of these. When using milk, scald and cool to lukewarm.

2. Yeast may be compressed, granular or dry. 3. Sugar is used to help yeast make leavening gas. Salt controls fermentation, gives flavor. 4. Add all flour necessary at the time of mixing, to keep dough from sticking, and to avoid dark streaks in bread.

5. Dough is kneaded until smooth and satiny. Curve the fingers over dough and push into it with the palms of the hands. The first kneading is longest-8 to 10 minutes required, never less than 5. After the dough is punched down the second time, only 2 minutes' kneading is necessary.

6. After the dough is kneaded, it is placed in a greased bowl.

Turn the dough over in bowl to grease it entirely and prevent a hard crust from forming. Cover dough with a cloth or waxed paper while rising. Temperature at which dough rises should be 82 degrees.

7. When punching dough down, punch hands into the center of the dough. down the second time and risen un-

Lynn Says:

Homemade Breads: Wash the bread box out thoroughly so the bread will stay fresh and moist longer. Every week, the box should have a soapy sudsing, and thorough drying out in the sunshine. Bread sometimes becomes stringy, if a certain germ is allowed to become imbedded in the box through lack of cleanliness.

Have freshly baked rolls often, by making a batch of refrigerator dough to have on hand. Then make a variety of rolls from it to add interest to the menu-caramel rolls, cinnamon twists, poppyseed rolls, orange-filled rolls, etc.

If homemade bread tends to get that day-old flavor, freshen the loaves by sprinkling a little water in a brown bag, placing loaf of bread in it, and into the oven for several minutes.

Cool to lukewarm, then add yeast softened in lukewarm water. Add cups of flour and beat thoroughly. Add remaining flour and mix gradually to a dough that won't stick to hands or bowl. Knead lightly on a floured board 8 to 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, cover closely, and let rise until double in bulk (2 to 21/2 hours). Punch down and knead 2 minutes. Let rise again until double in bulk. Knead down. Divide into 4 portions for loaves. Cover and let rest 10 to 15 minutes. Mold in loaves. Place in greased pans. Bread is done when it shrinks from the pan and sounds hollow when tapped with finger. Remove loaves from pans immediately and cool on rack. For a crisp crust, neither grease nor cover loaves when cooling. For a soft crust, brush top of loaves with fat or salad oil after removing from oven.

"Tiredness, especially noted in the morning after a night's sleep which seems neither this buffet is another story to aprefreshing nor sufficient is a com-(Focal infection is where infection occurs at one focus or spot in the body and the poisons or wastes are than 30 other things to make from odds carried from it by the blood to an- and ends. A whatnot is made of species other spot. Thus the poison from an infected throat can go to a joint and set up an arthritis.) "Apathy, lack of ambition, inability to concentrate and a dislike for mental work so that the patient must 'drive himself' to get anything done are often complained of. Dizzmess, loss of appetite, temporary blurring of vision or blindness may be noted."

The above description of focal infection is given by Dr. M. Solis-Cohen in Medical World. It is worth while for all of us to study these symptoms of focal infection. The first thought might naturally be to take Epsom salts or other purgative to rid the large intestine and the blood of these poisons. This treatment would give relief where the cause is eating too much or exercising too little, as accumulated wastes from food can give symptoms of fatigue. But, where this tired, sleepy, "don't care" feeling is present all or most of the time, you should consult your physician and dentist.

Vision Improved by Vitamins A and B

It is interesting and very gratifying to learn that not only can many cases of color blindness be corrected but other disturbances of vision also, by simply improving the diet, especially by the use of taining vitamin A and vitamin B complex.

In the "Medical Clinics of North America," Dr. Arthur M. Yudkin, states:

"Considerable effort has been made to improve the eyesight (especially night blindness) of some aviators, sailors, drivers, and others by giving them large quantities of vitamin A. Some of these persons improved only after a well balanced diet and an extra supply of vitamin A and vitamin B complex were given. Some of these persons also had difficulty in passing the color tests as prescribed by the army and navy. After the daily use of fish oil concentrates (20,000 units of vitamin A), a powerful vitamin B complex (two tablespoons of powerful yeast powder or an equivalent concentrate; and a well-balanced diet, the color vision, and the night blindness of many of these persons improved." Other diseases which affect the lining of the eyelids and the outer surface of the eyeball are also cured or helped by the use of vitamin A and vitamin B complex.

However, Dr. Yudkin does not suggest that treatment for these eye conditions should be by vitamins alone, but that a search should be made for the cause of these eye disturbances in these persons. Thus diseases of the stomach, liver and intestine may be preventing the body making full use of food eaten, including the vitamins. Only careful questioning by the physician may bring out that disturbances of the digestive system are present.

The thought then is that our eye specialists, because the tissues of the eyes are affected as can other tissues by lack of vitamins or other valuable foodstuffs, are able to notify the family physician of their findings. The eye disturbance can then be corrected by a suitable diet and removal of digestive disturbances.

FWD TRUCKS HELP BUILD 'AMERICAN BURMA ROAD'

CLINTONVILLE, WIS.—More than 350 FWD trucks have helped in the almost unbelievable task of building the Alcan highway more to open a supply road for the U.S. Army from this country to Alaska. In the picture a Four Wheel Drive truck, made here, is shown on 'suicide hill' on the Alcan highway. Later this mountainside road alid into the valley and it was necessary to reroute the highway through the valley shown in the background. The truck carries a portable camp in which U.S. Army engineers and road workers were quartered as the job moved forward. Kermit Langdok, FWD service engineer attached to the army in a technical capacity, recently returned from more than 9 months in Alaska during which his job was to keep the trucks operating.

Declaring that maximum production was the best guarantee against inflation, leaders from national farm organizations met with President Roosevelt to protest against general food subsidies to consumers,

As the Germans els assuring fair returns. In the case of meat and butter, it was said, subsidies failed to halt price reactions to supply and demand at the markets.

Bucking the subsidy idea on which organized labor has pressed the government to spend two billion dollars, were Albert S. Goss of the National Grange; Edward A. O'Neal, American Farm Bureau federation; and Ezra T. Benson, National Council of Farm Co-operatives. Representing the National Farmers Union, James G. Patton differed with the majority, favoring subsidies.

Nation to Be Active Factor In Post-War Peace Plans

Majority of American People Ask Participation In International Organization to Maintain Harmony.

> By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building | two of the strongest nations remain Washington, D. C. | united. The important thing, of Washington, D. C. Slowly the pattern of America's post-war plans are taking shape, but onle the pattern. When congress returned, it was evident that no matter how much disagreement there might be as to the details of the role the United States will play in the post-war world, the people have registered one idea: they want to take part in some kind of an international organization to maintain peace. The same opinion turned up in the conversation of three members of congress of widely differing political sentiments with whom I talked shortly after they returned. Speaker Sam Rayburn told me that the one phrase which received the most applause in the speeches he made in the Southwest was when he said that the United States must do a man's job for peace.

Two leading Republican senators expressed the same idea, namely, that "the people seem to be of one mind" that America must join in some kind of international effort after the war to maintain peace.

The disagreements in congress are chiefly a difference in degree and represent a discussion, for the most part, over details that nobody expects congress to decide in advance anyhow.

Of course, there are two things which make for lack of harmony; one is the natural desire of each political party to criticize the other in a campaign year; the other is the effort of small groups to get over their own particular ideas. Secretary of State Hull, in his speech of September 12, made it plain that the administration was in favor of an international organization which would agree to use force to maintain peace-implying that the United States would offer its armed forces in collaboration with other nations to stop aggression. He went further on the subject than any official so far but there has been a feeling on the part of many members of congress that the people would support such a policy.

ally come to the realization that citadel at Quebec, the marching replacement parts, Winston Churchill, as the king's first equipment, tires minister with plenary powers, and President Roosevelt, as commanderin-chief and, therefore, with similar authority, have agreed that the United States and Britain will pool ordered curtailment | their military resources not only until the fighting ends, but until the emergency is ended. They will do this merely by continuing the committee of joint chiefs of staff.

They have made it plain that they consider the emergency, or as an official spokesman for the United States described it, "a period of transition," will not end until the last peace treaties are signed. In other words, the United States and Great Britain intend, as long as the emergency exists, to take part in an organization to establish and maintain the peace by means of what amounts to a military alliance between the two nations.

Prime Minister Churchill was ready to sign a written agreement which would include Britain's pledge to remain our ally and continue the war with us until Japan was beaten -that much he told the newsmenand he added, the President had said it was not necessary, that his word was good enough. Presumably, the written agreement would have included the continuation of the joint committee of the chiefs of staff, too. But written or unwritten, such a pact now exists.

It is, therefore, clear that the President intends, if he remains in office, to maintain an interim arrangement which will keep this country an active factor in world affairs to the point where its policies will be supported by military action. This will be of indefinite length, as Churchill put it, until it can be shown that a better arrangement, including all nations, can be found to supplant it.

In one sense, therefore, it is less important what decision the congrees or the administration makes right now as to its foreign policy since there will be plenty of time for the people to become fully acduring the "transition period" when I or 40 minutes.

And that is what is on the fire right now. Until we know a little more about Russia's views and intentions, it will be impossible to make a detailed plan for the postwar world.

Battle of Italy Beginning of End

As I write these lines, the startled moon has just slipped behind a jagged curtain of clouds, like a transport sliding under the protecting cloak of a smoke screen.

That comparison leaps to my mind because all day I have been following, as you have and as closely as either of us could, the progress of the greatest military undertaking hole bored in the other end which an American army has at- lamp shades and the tempted in this war-the battle of stool are covered with the Italy. For the battle of Italy is the colored muslin. storming of the very portals of the Reich, the outer rim, it is true, but nonetheless, the first breastworks of Hitler's inner fortress.

Here, for the first time, American soldiers, hardened on the harsh sands of Africa and the cruel hills of Sicily, meet the guardsmen of the Nazi citadel. Not a bi-colored army, diluted by a half-hearted ally, Italy, but dogged German fighters defending the gateway to their own, their native land. The end of the beginning has ended, the beginning of the end has begun. And we who have watched every sign and every signal as the curtain between what we thought and what we knew was lifted, realize how little we and the world can guess of the inner and complicated workings of this great war machine.

As the armies of the Allies attack the enemy citadel-the leaders of the Allies, Roosevelt and Churchill, plan a new edifice.

The invasion of Sicily and the invasion of Italy were planned at Casablanca where, for 24 hours, the few newsmen who were permitted to know, kept the secret of the meeting itself. Civilian Defense Proves Its Worth

As Germany begins the defense of her inner fortress and the oncefeared Luftwaffe has been converted from an offensive to a defensive machine the problem of keeping up the morale of Civilian Defense in this country is a difficult one. It would be foolhardy to lie down on the job now for history has shown that frequently fierce and bitter conflicts grow out of victories and until the last shot is fired and after that, it isn't safe to desert the ramparts.

Recently the value of civilian defense training was proved in a manner which received very little recognition outside of the immediate vicinity. When the Congressional Limited, the crack train that runs between New York and Washington, was wrecked in Philadelphia, when the Twentieth Century Limited, another crack train between Chicago and New York, was wrecked, and when a hotel burned in Houston, Texas, the civilian defense organization proved its mettle. On all three occasions, invaluable service was rendered by these unselfish men and women who have so long answered mock alarms and gone on duty for practice drills,

It was definitely shown that in the case of the wreck of the Congressional Limited and in the Houston fire lives were actually saved by the defense workers. In Philadelphia a group of air raid wardens meeting near the scene of the wreck were the first to arrive on the scene.

In a short time 7,500 trained workers were at work assisting police and helping the rescue. So effectively did they handle the traffic that in spite of the great crowds, lancs were kept open so that all injured persons not actually pinned in the wreck had qualitied with the whole situation been removed to hospitals within 35

New Trick Ways of Wearing Sweaters

We have with us this fall the sweater girl in all her glory. She glories in the fact that she has caught on" to all the tricks in teaming a cardigan with a pullover and she simply dotes on achieving eye-crashing color contrasts. She does not hesitate to top a baby blue, shell pink or lime-green pullover with a red cardigan or sweater jacket. She likes the contrasting of a raspherry-red top sweater worn with a parms violet, navy blue of sooty black pullover. From her standpoint, a bright yellow pullover is keen under a scarlet or dark blue or deep purple cardigan. There is a new featured color out this season called "tenss" and it contrasts emertly with midnight blue in the executer realm. Smart to wear with a black skirt is the new beige-colared pallerer sweater, this sweater being the latest "rave" with college girls. No doubt the high school crowd will seen be adopting this campushit.

to give all men of the armed forces a sum as muster-out pay to tide them over the period of looking for a job, sounds good but in reality is it more than a kindly gesture?

At an average of $300 for each man the total would be around three billions of dollars. That three billions must be paid by the American taxpayers which will include the men who served in the armed forces. We propose to give to each of them, say $300, and then over the years, take all of it and more away from them in the form of income taxes.

The mustering-out process will be gradual. The men will not all be discharged as soon as the war is over. There will be a world police job to be done and a goodly percentage of American soldiers will want a place in that job. In that gradual process of mustering out peacetime industry will absorb most of those who need or want jobs.

The men of the armed forces are young. The greater portion of them unmarried. Practically all of them have homes where they will be welcomed. They will have ample opportunity and time to look for jobs. As the years pass these young men will assume ever-increasing responsibilities. They will have homes and

Of the other 30 cents taxes took over six cents of each dollar sale. The hundred thousand and more stockholders, who provide the tools and buildings and working capital, received less than four cents of each sales dollar as a dividend, on which they paid income taxes. After paying the cost of material and transportation, exclusive of the labor involved, and paying management, there was nine cents of each sales dollar left to provide for a rainy day. It would seem that labor gets a fair share.

BUSINESS PSYCHOLOGY

SOME MONTHS AGO I dropped into a food market and was impressed by two things. One was that I was the only prospective customer at what was usually a busy hour in a food market. The other was a number of signs displayed on the walls. One sign read: "Your credit is not good." Another; "Our business is to sell, not to visit." A third: "If you do not like what we have, buy elsewhere." There were others of a similar slap-in-the-face character. I did not buy and it was my first and only visit to that store. Those signs told the reason for a lack of customers. The store has since been closed by the sheriff and the one-time owner condemns the public for failure to patronize a home institution. He was not a student of paychology.

Plan Day's Meals Using Basic Seven As Your Guide

Utilize a little bit of meat with vegetables and tuck under a flavorful, flaky piecrust and serve the family a meat pie. All vegetables to meat mixture. Pour into baking and meat are served in one casserole and save serving dishes.

Is there a blueprint or plan for making menus? That's a question homemakers frequently put to the food experts. Yes, there is. Suppose you are given a list of foods to be

Group I. Green and yellow vegetables. At least one of each kind

Group II. At least one serving of oranges, grapefruit or tomatoes to get enough Vitamin C in the diet, A good time to get this requirement

Group III. Potatoes or other fruit and vegetables to add more minerals and vitamins to the diet.

Group IV. Milk or milk products. This may be in the form of milk (1 pint per day for adults, 1 quart for children), fresh or evaporated, and cheese.

or dried beans, peas, nuts or peanut butter. This group is needed to build and repair body tissue.

Group VI. Bread, flour and cereals are required to meet energy needs and the vitamin B needs of the body. Be sure that you use are whole - grain, enriched or restored, You would times as much ordinary bread, for example, to get as much nutritional value as one loaf of enriched bread contains.

Group VII. Butter or fortified margarine. Use some of either every day to give energy and vitamin A. That's the plan. Use food out of every group, every day.

The best way to divide the groups into three balanced meals will run something like this: For breakfast: Citrus fruit, cereal, eggs, milk or beverage, toast. For lunch or dinner: Meat (poultry or fish, etc.), vegetable in elther group I or III, milk or milk products. For dinner or supper: Ment, poultry or fish, vegetable or fruit from groups I, II, or III. Milk or milk product, and also bread and butter from groups VI and VII.

An easy way to plan the menus is to write down the foods and the corresponding number of the group of food from which it comes. If you do not use one or two of the groups during one meal, pick them up at the next. No chance for slips, here! Keep one eye on the plan and the other on the ration books while do-

Lynn Says:

What they do: The basic seven food requirements are so made up as to take care of the body's demand for certain types of food.

For example, proteins, minerals and water are all essential to building torn parts of the body and keeping them in repair. They are needed for tissues, bones, muscles, blood and other fluids.

Energy for breathing, heart action, circulation of the blood, and other bodily functions is supplied by fuel foods-foods rich in fats and sugar.

To keep up the body's resistance to disease, to keep it in good summing order, is the function of regulation and prefective foods -there are the vitamine, minerale, water and roughage

It seems odd today, in spite of its reality, to pick up a newspaper and read where the renowned Benjamin Franklin, among others, discussed subjects at a meeting. Yet the editor of the Journal did that in a moment of relaxation a recent evening, while reading over a group of ancient publications which are among the relics owned by Frank E. See Here, Private Hargrove!

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Stargreve, former feature editor of a North Carolina newspaper, has been inducted into the army and is spending his training period at Fort Bragg, If you're going into the army, Hargrove advises a pre-induction period of "painting the town red." Once you wear the khaki "keep an open mind," he says, "for the first three weeks are the hardest." Having failed to master some of the fundamentals of army life, Hargrove has spent considerable time on KP duty. He has been classified as a cook. Thus be is fully familiar with the Company kirchen. Also a period of field maneuvers have made him familiar with sunburn, He is now undergoing treatment for this.

CHAPTER VIII

For once I have gone on sick call for purposes other than goldbricking. This time it was for sympathy, tenderness, and sunburn lotion. I got the sunburn lotion. Since then I have been confined to quarters-a pathetic, lorn creature wandering about the squadroom in a minimu a of clothing and a glow of brilliant red light.

Things are getting fairly comfortable for a while. The poet Droschniop and the happy warrior Menza applied the ointment with tender care. Private Sher was asked to snaffle a sandwich from the mess hall and returned with a laden tray, replete with iced tea and a double portion of

But night must fall. In a case tike this, where you're packed in grease like a boxed rifle, it's best to place one layer of newspaper between sheet and blanket. After lying there for a while, listening to the newspapers crackle exactly like burnt flesh every time you twist in agony, you feel the urge to sit up and look at some real stars.

They're drafting honest, respectaale, hard-working soldiers back into efvillan life now, as you probably read in the papers. Has-beens at twenty-eight, these good boys are airned into the posture under a selective retirement system. It's interesting to watch the way they

Reading is a popular diversion during the time, unless you pick up a magazine which tells you what slackers you are because you aren't like the author was in the Real war.

There's a different type of article that is equally nauseating. It tells of the poor little soldier boys, who give up everything to go into training thousands of miles from mother's lap and who will have to spend their time leaning against urban lampposts-because nothing is being done for their morale.

You're talking about entertainment, Gertrude-not morale. In the matter of entertainment, there's plenty of that to be found, even if it isn't like being back home toasting marshmallows with Her. There's so much being done here for entertainment that you can't get halfway to the Service Club without being drafted for a battery show or a volleyball game.

Morale is the spirit that gets you when you're out on the regimental parade ground with the whole battalion for retreat parade. Every mother's son there wants to look as much the soldier as the Old Man does. Not another sound can be heard before or after the one-gun salute to the colors or when the band crosses the field to a stirring march in the Display of the Colors. That's morale. Just a matter of pride.

The good earth on which Fort Bragg is situated is laden with tradition, ghosts of the glorious past, the eld culture - and little else. Beautiful as it may be for purposes of military training, it has little interest in helping the little green things to grow. Grass and flowers, planted with loving care in the Sandhills dust, fade but too soon if left to shift for themselves. MEAT AND PROTEINS

While the rationing of sugar, buter, tea and coffee caused considtrable dismay, the rationing of meat has caused more concern than any other single food.

Most food experts will agree that not only is meat an important food from the standpoint of nitrogen or body building, but in the minds and the digestion of the majority of us, nothing quite satisfies the stomach and the appetite as does meat. What then is likely

Fish is one of those foods, as is also cheese in any form.

The second point is that there is no reason why we should buy the expensive cuts of meat, because there is no difference in the amount | that those who profess to be His that some termite is boring from or quality in expensive or cheap For years, physicians have been

Because there is "always" the chance of infection present, Drs. Boyce and Nelson believe that any attack of appendicitis should be considered and treated as a serious attack.

"The problem of acute appendicitis would be solved and its challenge met if the public could be taught and if physicians would remember (1) that any abdominal pain may be the first symptom of acute appendicitis; (2) that food, fluids and particularly purgatives should be withheld in every case of abdominal pain until it is definitely decided that acute appendicitis is not present, and (3) that

JESUS AND THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

LESSON TEXT-Matthew 5:17-20; 19:16-22; John 5:39, 40. GOLDEN TEXT-Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.-Matthew 5:17.

With this lesson we begin a series of studies which should be of unusual value, a consideration of the Ten Commandments in the light of the teachings of Jesus, and other related New Testament passages.

It is appropriate to point out that, far from being outmoded, the Ten Commandments are really the basis of all moral law. They need a diligent restudy and re-emphasis in our day of disregard of moral standards.

As interpreted by the Lord Jesus and applied to our daily living, the truth of these commandments should be brought home to every hotels, says Collier's. About the boy and girl, man and woman in our Bible schools.

We learn here that our Lord did not come to set aside or destroy the law, but to fulfill it in the most complete way. But the gospel takes us a step beyond the law, and it is a great step, for we follow the One who is greater than the law.

I. Built on the Law (Matt. 5:17-

The law of God is eternal, never to be abrogated, never set aside. Christ Himself, although we might properly say that He was in reality the Lawgiver and thus had power and authority over the law, indicated His purpose in coming to be that of giving the law its full meaning, not of destroying it. One could wish servants might have the same measure of regard for God's law. If they did, they obviously would not be so ready to ignore it, so quick to change it or explain it away, and far more ready to accept with their Master every "jot and tittle," that is, even Guard wherever they are. -Adv the minutest detail of His Word.

Recognizing Christ as the fulfillment of the law should prepare one to manifest obedience to every moral precept through His grace.

II. More Than the Law (Matt. 19:16-22).

Obedience to the commandments brings a man up to the very entrance upon life, but to enter in, he must have more than the "things" making it at home-in the respecta- tein that the body needs and there of the law; he must have the Person who is "the Door" to eternal life.

The young man who came to Christ was rich. His mind was obsessed with things. He had made it his business to observe the law, and had done well (v. 20), but his soul was not satisfied. He thought one more "thing" to do would accomplish his purpose. The general attitude of the man was commendable. He sensed his lack of the vital something which would remake his life. He came to the right one-the Lord Jesus-with his question.

His failure to go beyond the things of the law to a faith in Christ, however, showed that he loved his possessions more than he desired to follow the Lord.

Those in our day who are trying to please God and gain eternal blessedness by works, by doing things and keeping commandments, need to recognize that in Christianity we have the One who is more than the law. They need to look away from things to be done, to the great thing that was done once and for all on Calvary.

III. Greater Than the Law (John 5:39, 40).

The Scriptures are great because they bear witness to the Christ who can give life. But obviously the One to whom they bear witness is greater than they are.

Paul speaks of the law as a "schoolmaster to bring us to Christ" (Gal. 3:24). The picture is literally of a servant charged with bringing the child to school where he may learn the truth. So the law convicts man of sin, makes him conscious of his own utter inability to meet God's requirements, and makes him ready to turn to Christ. in faith and repentance (Rom. 3:20).

These men of our Lord's time were very religious. They spent much of their time searching the Scriptures that they might find eterprompt operation should be per nat life. But most of them failed to formed as soon as the physician is understand that the life they sought reasonably sure that acute appendic was in the One who stood before them Jesus of Nazareth and not in the letter of the law.

This has a vital bearing on the proper study of the lossoms of this quarter. "The time has passed when men might seek life in the Scriptures apart from Jesus, Now that Joses has come, life can be found only if the Scriptures lead one to Justin

This is only one item in the long and forthright document which has had considerable publicity. Perhaps it might have been neglected if it had not been blown into the public's face by the political breezes stirred up by Mr. Vandenberg. Perhaps Mr. (1) Election of a new commander, they wished immunity from military Vandenberg might not have generated those breezes if Mr. Baruch had not been pretty critical of government agencies that competed for power; perhaps Mr. Baruch would not have been so frank if he had not thought that, as he requested, the report was not for publication.

Mr. Byrnes, when he sent the document to "Dear Van" at the latter's insistence, said that it was not intended for other than private use but that it was "a splendid argument in favor of action taken by the War Mobilization committee" (in regard to the labor situation on the West coast) and he requested that it be placed in the Congressional Record, which it was.

Washington Digest Manpower-Draft Situation Is Nation's No. 1 Problem

Political Shadows Darken Vital Issues Confronting Every Family; National Service Act Subject of Debate.

By BAUKHAGE

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, | Situation Is Serious Washington, D. C.

Today, a whole year stands between election day and the capital but the shadow of coming events cast their shadows before them. Like the dark patches on the ground when scudding clouds cross the sun, the Washington scene is flecked with pol-

And there are issues this time which reach right into every home, touch the family where there are men and women of fighting or working age, reach into the larder and the ice box. It is hard for anyone to see these issues clearly because of the shadow of politics.

There is the draft, the manpower question closely interwoven with it, there is food, its production, its distribution, rationing and prices.

It takes a keen eye to see where merit ends and politics begins.

When Senator Wheeler, fathering the deferment of draft for pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, said the defeat of his measure would be a blow at morale and the nation's children, there was no reason to believe that he was insincere. Certainly there was no insincerity about the army and navy heads who opposed the measure, exmany men of fighting age and physique and that a certain job had to be done.

But to a reporter who has been reporting the doings of mice and men for more than a quarter of a century. I could not help suspecting some of the folk who battled over this legislation. What a juicy morsel it was for the vote-getter! True, the Wheeler bill aimed to exempt those who, with no foreknowledge of war, produced families without a thought that babies, to quote the ancient wheeze, like weatherstrips, could keep them out of the draft. But what about other fathers, quite as Pearl Harborish in their paternity whose offspring sprang after the deadline simply because time or opportunity had lingered?

President's Views

There was no doubt what the President thought when he talked about men with children who were doing no useful thing and who might, if service, easily get into a war industry. They, one opponent of the Wheeler bill said, were told that they had no responsibility in the war ef fort, at home or at the front.

Of course, this argument would not hold if the National Service act, that nightmare of politicians, were passed. The army wants it, Senator Austin and Representative Wadsworth who introduced it, and their followers want it-the White House has never spoken but of late is

Now politics, long before the election winds started blowing, has dulled men's minds on that subject. Manpower Commissioner McNutt has been willing but not emphatic. Perhaps you never read the contents of a recent statement issued through the Office of War Information from the Manpower commission. I have treasured it and want to quote its first sentences:

NAPLES:

Gutted City

By the time Allied forces had epened their offensive against Naples, the Nazis had turned the big port city into a mass of flames. They wrecked and scuttled every ship that had escaped Allied bombs and destroyed every wharf.

The Fifth and Eighth armies were bringing their full power to bear against their objective. That the Germans had early given up hope of holding the city was proved by the wholesale destruction of all usable facilities. At least 30 ships lay munk or aground in the harbor as the result of Nazi scuttling and Al-Bed bombs. Bombers had also wrecked railroad yards so thoroughby that no traffic had come into them

Even as the offensive against Naples began, French troops and American Rangers were driving shead in Corsica, island of Napoleonic history. They had closed in on Bastia, acetheastern port of the island, and Allied naval and air forces had clamped on a tight blockade against German escape.

MILK PRODUCERS: Get First Subsidy

History was made in the dairy industry with the disclosure that the government has paid its first subsidy to dairymen. The announcement was made as Fred M. Vinson, scuramic stabilization director, took over the job of arbitrating a widespread milk price disagreement. Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tenmesses stated that Vinson told him a subsidy had been given milk producers in the drouth-stricken area sear Memphis. Other official sources said the submidy would total 50 cents a hundradweight, approximately

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Spring Another Trap

Japanese troops manning the important New Guinea base of Finschafen were hemmed in on three sides by Allied forces following Gen. Douglas MacArthur's master plan of utilizing units to land in strength behind the enemy's key points and work to cut off his supply. After the pattern of the conquest of Lae farther to the south, big airplane transports landed Allied troops northwest of Finschafen. As these troops pressed in against the Japs from the west, other ground forces moved in on the enemy from the south. Then, the encirclement was made complete when the U. S. navy put troops ashore to the north. Capture of Finschafen would place the Allies a short distance from the Jap air bases on New Britain island to the east and thus reduce the efficiency of these bases as points for attack on U. S. forces.

Dishes should be hearty enough to satisfy any man-sized appetites you encounter, but pretty enough to draw compliments, too. Have things easy to fix so that you can have plenty of time to take part in the social activities of the evening.

Vitamin A is found particularly in milk, butter, eggs, cheese, liver and green vegetables; vitamin B in whole wheat bread, beef, mutton, and many vegetables; vitamin B-2 in milk, fruits, and leafy vegetables; vitamin C in fruits-oranges, limes, lemons, tomatoes and melons.

Another suggestion is that elderly individuals should try to eat three meals of about the same size instead of making the evening meal the largest and heaviest one. In fact, the large meal of the day should be eaten at noon, with a light supper in the evening. A rest of an hour after eating, instead of walking or working immediately after eating, aids digestion and avoids overtaxing the heart which otherwise would have the duty of increasing its work to take care of digestion and exercise or work at the same time. If tea and coffee agree, one or two cups daily are allowed.

What causes tic doloreux? The tender, sizzling link sausages with cause is unknown, but it is known that very little is needed to set off the nerve trigger causing the outburst of severe pain.

Two British research workers, Drs. W. E. Adams and W. Robinson, thinking that the cause of tic doloreux was in some way connected with the blood supply to the trifacial nerve supplying head and face not receiving enough blood or oxygenated blood, tried drugs to close off the blood supply and drugs to increase the blood supply to this Combine beaten egg yolks and nerve and the large ganglion from

The dilator drug, nicotinic acid, was used (to give an increased supply of blood to the trifacial nerve) to seven patients, two male and five female, ranging from 36 to 62 years, in doses which varied from 50 milligrams twice a day to 75 milligrams four times a day.

"In every case there was improvement, amounting in some cases to complete relief." In two patients a return of pain was relieved by breathing in amyl nitrate,
